University Training & Placement Centre

We understand that active engagement of the industry with the academia is vital for developing the required skills in the future professionals.

Lack of Industry engagement in Indian higher education sector has been sighted as one of the key reasons for outdated curriculum, irrelevant research initiatives, inappropriate training and mentoring of students and faculty etc. These issues have been debated endlessly on various Industry-Academia forums, however, without any viable solution. Today, when Indian higher education sector is poised on the verge of liberalization, role of industry would be crucial in taking the Indian education system to a higher trajectory.

To facilitate the industry in the current scenario of the skill gap on one hand and to enrich students with the industry exposure on the other hand; a one semester internship program has been incorporated in the course curriculum of maximum of the academic programs.

Internship is an effective way to connect the acquired basic and core skills, academic knowledge earned by students in the University and with the professional work arena of the industry. In this process both the industry and interns are mutually benefitted. On part of the industry it would significantly slash down the expenses to be incurred on talent hunt exercise and training of new recruits, whereas the interns will get an opportunity to further increase their potential and skills required for enhancing their employability.
